Know what to do

To the Editor:

Re: Tornado season editorial.

It's not an easy or welcomed task, but the Northwest Herald did a community service for many of us by its editorial April 9.

We should not forget and need to be prepared as nearly 45 years to the date, the Palm Sunday tornado left a scar and tragedy through this area. Too many other areas thereafter experienced similar devastation that, only by planning, preparation and awareness, can greater tragedy be forestalled.

With the April weather history of this area, like the Northwest Herald wrote, we need to "know just what to do."

"Very true, and that article calmed me down some about this tornado season. I am always on edge when the watches/warnings come on and panic easily - I am from Chicago and these just don't touch down in the city - but the article made me feel better and more prepared."
